“Active Shooter In The Workplace”

Speaker: Lt. Richard E. Waldo, Jr.

Rochester Police Department

Lt. Waldo has been employed by the Rochester Police Department since 2000. He is currently a Police Lieutenant assigned to the Community Affairs Bureau. He has been a Lieutenant since 2014. He has worked in patrol for most of my career. His only time not in patrol was his time as Class Counselor for the Police Academy. There he had the honor to train police recruits for three academy classes. He also instructed Active Killer Training, Defensive Tactics, Taser, Communications, and numerous general police topics to recruits and in-service police personnel. He also has been a Field Training Officer since 2004. Prior to the Rochester Police Department he taught High School Mathematics for the Rochester City School District.

Lt. Waldo also served in the US Army both on active duty and for the Reserves. During that time he had the opportunity to instruct as a Drill Sergeant, and an Army Military Police Instructor. Research interests include a myriad of topics such as; leadership, Police Process, Juvenile Justice, Criminology, Team Building, Terrorism, Victimology, Problems in Policing, Procedural Justice, and Contemporary Recruitment Methods.
